Get a Jump Start

Need to give your life a little nudge to make it exciting again? Find inspiration in The 52 Weeks blog. Run by Karen Amster-Young and Pam Godwin, the blog chronicles the attempts of these two 40-something-year-old friends as they endeavor to try something new and different each week for a year. The duo tackles everything from enrolling in a poker class for the first time and conquering a fear of flying to improving personal relationships. Log onto www.the52weeks.com for things to try yourself or simply to see how the friends fare.

Bling with Meaning

Charming Habits Jewelry empowers women with positive phrase charms that dangle from silver necklaces. Feel confident and cool when you adorn yourself with words like "enjoy the journey," "emerge," "live your dreams" and more. See the charming choices at www.etsy.com/shop/charminghabits.

Pretty Pregnancy Pants

Wish you could accommodate your changing body while maintaining both comfort and style? Now you can with the Ultimate Maternity Fitness Pant by For Two Fitness. Simple to wear and not prone to ride down, the pants are wonderful for everything from hanging out with friends to trekking to the gym. They're designed to grow with the wearer and offer support as well as stretch without restriction. Put your best body forward at www.fortwofitness.com.

Drink Up

As you run from place to place to meet the demands of your chock-full summer calendar, make sure to stay hydrated. The Rapid Ice water cooler by Cork Pops can keep a water bottle in your purse nice and cold for as many as three hours. In just five minutes, your tepid drink turns into a much-needed icy refreshment. Snag this new beverage beauty at www.corkpops.com.
